

AI & Machine Learning Workshop

The Department of Computer Science is organizing a hands-on workshop on Artificial Intelligence and Machine Learning. Topics include machine learning fundamentals, neural networks, generative AI and practical Python-based projects. Students interested in AI, ML and data science are encouraged to register.

Required Action: Interested students should register through the college portal.